Research Experience

Predoctoral Research Assistant Jun 2026 – Present
Department of Economics, Sciences Po — Prof. Clément Imbert

- Contribute to a cross-country project examining how conflict shapes internal migration in Africa and how migration may, in turn, affect violence in destination regions.
- Study how armed-group activity, local economic shocks, and state capacity influence the direction and intensity of population movements.
- Develop evidence linking the origins and destinations of violence to migration flows in order to identify the causal effects of conflict on migration.

Research Assistant Apr 2025 – Sept 2025
Department of Economics, Sciences Po

- Contributed to a project assessing whether forest-protection policies reduce deforestation and improve climate-related outcomes across Africa.
- Compiled subnational evidence on the timing, location, and design of protection policies to compare their implementation and effectiveness.
- Linked policy coverage with patterns of forest loss to identify where conservation interventions achieved their intended outcomes.
